

TECH TALK

Ready for the summer trip you've been thinking about all year? We've found some must have tech items to make your travels smooth.

SONY MDR-NC50

Noise Canceling Headphones

Are you planning on flying to Europe this summer? Or perhaps traveling cross-country with four friends 'sardined' in car? We have the solution whether it's loud airplane drawl or a friends 'run of the mouth' problem; SONY's Noise canceling headphones will bring your thoughts back to your inner sanctum. For a serious sound castle try the larger MDR-NC50s. They sound great and do a great job at canceling noise, but they are a bit heavy on the noggin. For a lighter fare, try the SONY MDR NC11A Noise Canceling Ear Bud headphones. They are great replacements for any mp3 player and do a fair job of noise canceling. MDR-NC50 Approx. Price: $179

MDR-NC11A Approx. Price: $95 BTW: We saw the NC50's for $125.99 on Buy.com!

Magellan Roadmate 800

Portable, easy to use with a wide variety of features, the Magellan Roadmate 800 makes for the perfect navigation tool. This palm sized unit is pre-loaded with detailed maps and millions of points of interests (with phone numbers!) of the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands and 27 European countries. Time-saving features, such as instant re-route calculation when a turn is missed, and SmartDetour™ routes you around slow or stopped freeway traffic so you keep moving. A rechargeable battery and built-in 4.5 GB harddrive for storing music and photos, on full color touch screen, makes this unit convenient for multi-vehicle use.

Digital Hotspotter®

The Digital Hotspotter is a full-featured Wi-Fi detection and analysis device, providing information on signal availability and strength as well as essential network information, including

ID, security status and channel for most 802.11 b/g Wi-Fi networks. What does this mean? Just push the button and your nearest hotspot is found! This is essential if you're traveling and want to stay connected with your laptop. 2 AAA batteries included. $59.95 at www.canarywireless.com
